

Kristine Wilckens

Graduate Student Department of Psychology and the CNBC
University of Pittsburgh

Email: krw37@pitt.edu

Phone: 412 624 6965

Academic History

University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, PA Cognitive Psychology and Center for the Neural Basis of Cognition Dr. Mark Wheeler	2008 –
New York University, New York, NY MA Scholar in Psychology Concentrations in Biopsychology and Cognitive Psychology	2006-2008
Rutgers University, New Brunswick, NJ BA with Honors in Psychology, Douglass College, Rutgers University Minor in French	2002-2006

Previous Research

Masters Thesis New York University , Dr. Lila Davachi Exploring the effects of distributed learning on consolidation of face-profession pairs	2006-2008
Undergraduate Thesis, Rutgers University , Dr. Arnold L. Glass The dependence of recognition upon recall: Evidence from successive memory tasks	2004-2006
Research Assistant, Institute for Health at Rutgers University , Dr. Tamara Musumeci Social psychology of asthma self-regulation and illness management	2006

Publications in preparation

- Wilckens, K., Litman, L., Davachi, L. (in prep) Distributed learning enhances long-term memory of face-profession pairs.
- Glass, A., Wilckens, K., (in prep) The dependence of recall upon recognition: Evidence from successive memory tests.

Presentations

- Wilckens, K., Litman, L., Davachi, L. Distributed learning enhances memory long-term memory consolidation. NYU Annual MA Poster Conference, 2008.
- Wilckens, K., Litman, L., Davachi, L. The effects of distributed learning on consolidation of face-profession pairs. NYU Annual MA Poster Conference, 2007.

Wilckens, K. & Glass, A. The relationship between recognition and recall. Mabel Smith Douglass Honors Conference, 2006.

Teaching

New York University Department of Psychology	2007- 2008
Fall 2007 Teaching Assistant for Dr. Andrew Hilford, Cognitive Psychology
Spring 2008 Teaching Assistant for Dr. Kimberly Feltner, Developmental Psychology
Summer 2008 Teaching Assistant for Dr. Jennifer Corbett, Perception

Fellowships, Awards and Scholarships

Arts & Sciences Graduate Fellowship University of Pittsburgh, Dept of Psychology,	2008-2009
MA Scholar, New York University, Department of Psychology	2008.
MA research poster conference: First Prize 2008, Second Prize 2007
Samuel Epstein Scholarship	2006
Woodruff Scholarship	2005
L'hommedieu Scholarship for Study Abroad	2003
Phi Beta Kappa	2006
Psi Chi Honors Society in Psychology	2005